VIDEO - Rates Module Redesign

The charge configuration editor inside rate cards has been redesigned. The functionality is identical. This is purely a UI overhaul of how you configure and read calculation blocks when editing a price on a rate card.

Updated 10 August 2026

This video highlights the main changes between the old and new Rates editor (Dutch version below):

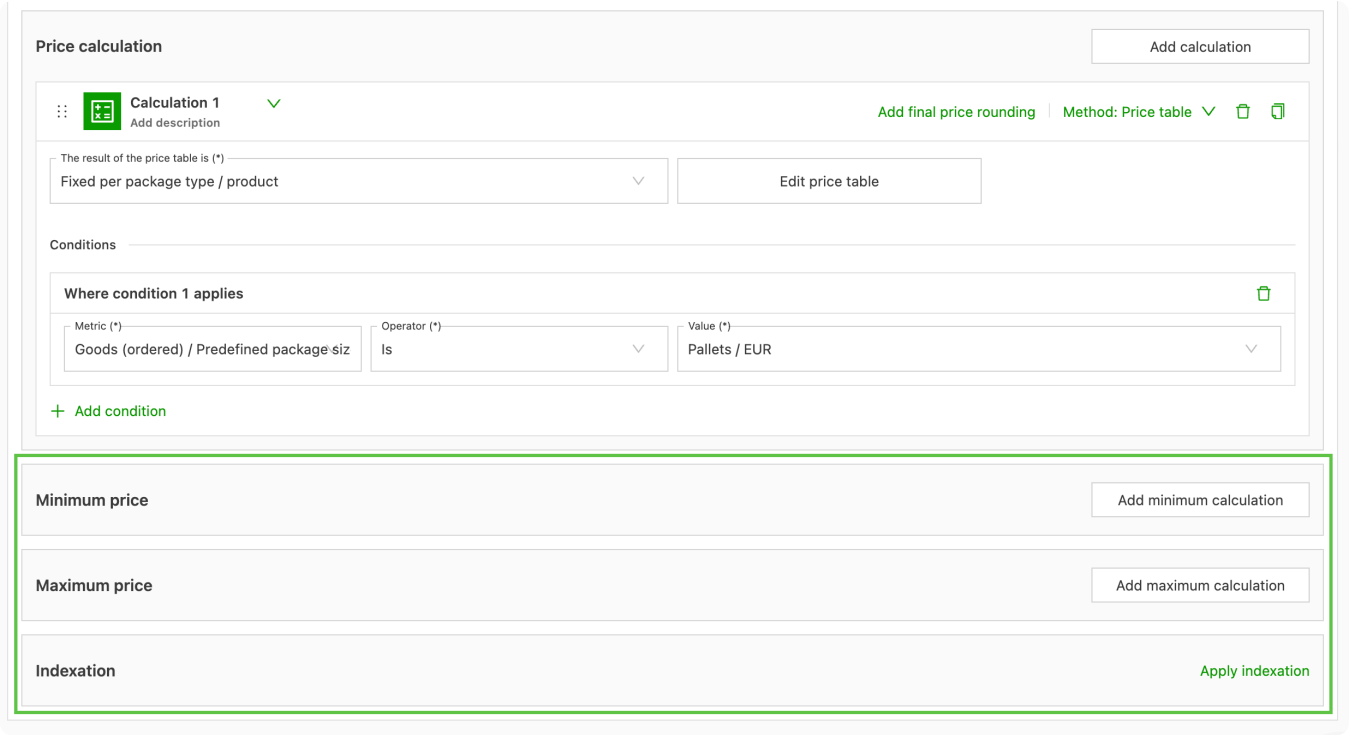
✅ Calculation logic and rounding behaviour are completely unchanged.

The video shows the changes to the user interface of an existing rate card. When you create a new rate card, the screen is compact and shows clear action buttons.



As soon as you have added a calculation or price, the fields become collapsible.
